FOCUS
CONFIDENCE

KEY PHRASE
“I am enough.”

SUMMARY

The last practice before the Show Off. The coach reminds fighters this is their final chance to work toward the Week 3 team goal, then reviews how to build a strong combination. Training is given to the 10-move combination, run for speed and form, and peer mitt-holding.

MATERIALS

- Fighter’s Mindset journal
- Mitts & gloves
- Writing utensils

OBJECTIVES

By the end of this practice, fighters will:

Prepare a 10-move combination that includes each of the boxing movements learned so far

COACH MESSAGE

15 MIN

SAY

You’ll be showing off your skills next week with your teammates. Remember the team goal we set at the beginning of the season? Today is the last day we can work toward it. Let’s review it.

HOW TO BUILD A COMBINATION

- Generally alternate between left and right side, 1 · 2 · 3 · 2, or 1 · 2 · slip · 2.
- Shift your body weight into each move to build rhythm.
- Always bring your hands back to your face after every punch.
- Add a defensive move every three or four punches for good flow.
- Start slow, memorizing one to three punches at a time.

JRNL JOURNAL · WEEK 9

JOURNAL P. 14

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Develop your 10-step combination and write it down move by move.

HIGH SCHOOL

Design your combination, then write what it shows about you, the version of yourself your friends and family might not always see.

INTENTIONS

5 MIN

SAY JRNL Also in the fighter journals

Today's guiding question: what do you intend to do today to have a successful Show Off next week?

Every fighter shares. End each intention with snap clap.

TRAINING

30 MIN

BUILD THE 10-MOVE COMBO Partners

- Partners build a combination of at least 10 moves that uses every punch, defensive move, and footwork pattern they know.
- Write it down with dots between each move, 1 · 2 · slip · 6 · 3 · 2 · roll · 2 · 3 · 2, so both partners can practice it at home and remember it next week.
- Challenge advanced pairs to add moves rather than repeat them.

RUN-THROUGHS Speed and form

- Three run-throughs slow, for form. Then three at full speed.
- If form breaks at speed, drop back to slow before speeding up again.
- Give individual feedback to every fighter.

PEER MITT-HOLDING PRACTICE Both roles

- Each fighter holds mitts for her partner's full combination.
- Mitt holders lead: hands up to signal, drop when the combination is done.
- Give one piece of C.A.P. feedback per run-through.

BURNOUT

7 MIN

Partner mitts: 200 punches, then switch.

SHOUT-OUTS

3 MIN

Team shout-outs first, then individual shout-outs, each ending with snap clap.
